Installing Compass Enterprise Software

1. Uninstall any current version of Compass software.
2. Insert the Compass Enterprise CD into your CD drive.
3. The installation page will automatically open. If the installation page does not automatically open, manually open the file CompassProductsInstall.htm in the root folder.
4. Review the installation instructions before proceeding.
5. Select the link for the product that you wish to install on your system.
6. To license the software you will require an activation code. Execute the application and request a code from the Licence Manager. This is available to you when executing the unlicensed application.
7. Use the email facility of the Licence Manager to automatically receive an activation code. This should only take a few minutes for a return email.

>> If you experience problems during the installation procedure, contact Pitney Bowes Software to receive assistance.
